

Senior and Junior Tally 81 Points

Mary Geer and Betsy Selanders Gain Tie for High Score in Star's 4th Quiz

By JUNE ROSEBERRY

Mary Geer, Harding High School senior, and Betsy Selanders, Harding junior, tied for top honors in the fourth annual Marion Star General Information Quiz. Each chalked up a score of 81.

Mary has earned her first $25 U. S. Savings Bond and Betsy her second. Last year Betsy achieved the second highest score in the sophomore class, also with 81 correct answers on the 100-question quiz.

Second place winners, respectively, in the senior and junior classes are Joyce Miller, who scored 79 points, and Liane Woltmann, who scored 77. Both are Harding students. Joyce received a consolation prize last year after being eliminated in a junior class runoff quiz.

Harding Sophomores Bruce Kohler and Kitty Reed tied for honors in their class this year, each with 74 correct answers.

Each of the winners will be presented a $25 bond by The Star. In addition, consolation prizes will go to Lynn Greetham and Ken Klatt, Harding seniors, who also scored 79 points to develop a three-way tie with Joyce Miller for second place in the class.

KEN WAS eliminated from the competition in the first set of tie-breaking questions given the three seniors. But Lynn and Joyce remained deadlocked for the honor of second place. Each earned 15 correct answers out of 25 questions. Ken was close behind them with a score of 13.

The two girls took a second tie-breaker quiz which finally decided the outcome. Of the 10 questions, Joyce answered 6 correctly and Lynn, 4.

The grand prize of a $50 bond will not be awarded this year since no student had a higher score than any other. Bonds are being presented to the first and second highest scorers in each class.

The test of general knowledge was taken Feb. 24 by more than 1,500 sophomore, junior and senior students at Harding and Marion Catholic High Schools. It was printed in The Star Feb. 27.

TWO OF THE questions in the original quiz were missed by all six winners. Both concerned local public officials. Given a choice in the name of the chairman of the Board of Marion County Commissioners, the top scorers all selected Howard McCurdy. The correct answer is Clarence Keil.

The other question which tripped all six was the name of the acting judge of Marion Municipal Court for 1959. He is Paul G. Simpson.

Three other questions stumped 5 of the 6 bond recipients. These concerned scoring in a tennis game, the author of the famous slogan "Don't Give Up the Ship," and the definition of a farrier.

Answers to these questions are: With the score 40-love in a tennis game, three points have been made.

A farrier shoes horses.

Capt. James Lawrence said: "Don't give up the ship."

CORRECT ANSWERS to eight other most frequently missed questions are:

Franklin D. Roosevelt was the first president of the United States to be inaugurated Jan. 20.

Warren G. Harding was the only man in U.S. history elected president while serving in the U.S. Senate.

A group of lions is a pride.

The longest river in the world is the Nile.

Marion County is in the third state appellate court district.

Martel is not the name of a Marion County township.

Appropriations for operation of city government and Marion General Hospital in 1959 are $2,700,000.

The approximate weight of a gallon of water is eight pounds.

Mary Geer has won two other test honors this year. She placed first in the county among seniors taking the Ohio University history and government test and earned the highest grade in the DAR test at Harding.

She is a member of the Props and Q's Club, Pep Club, Tri-Hi-Y and Future Teachers Club of which she is historian.

MARY ALSO is a member of Epworth Methodist Church and of Job's Daughters.

Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Geer of 518 Mt. Vernon Ave. She is enrolled at Ohio Wesleyan University for next fall and will pursue the study of languages and history.

Co-editor of the "Harding Herald," school newspaper, Joyce Miller also is active in Tri-Hi-Y. She attended Buckeye Girls State last year.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Leroy Miller of 828 Bellefontaine Ave., she is a member of First Presbyterian Church. Joyce works part time at Bowe's Ice Cream Store. She plans to attend Ohio State University and prepare for a career in teaching history.

Assistant copy editor of the yearbook staff, Betsy Selanders holds membership in the Props and Q's Club, the Future Engineers Club and the Harding Orchestra, playing violin. In addition, she is a committee chairman of Tri-Hi-Y, is a row captain in the Pep Club and has a role in the junior class play. At Epworth Methodist Church where she holds membership, she is witness chairman of the MYF. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Selanders of 343 Hane Ave.

LIANE WOLTMANN is a member of the Tri-Hi-Y, Future Engineers Club, Job's Daughters and the Salem United Church of Christ. She was homeroom secretary in her sophomore year. The junior is the daughter of Mrs. Elmer Woltmann of 606 Uhler Rd. and the late Mr. Woltmann.

Wild March Snow Storm Shifts to Northeast After Roaring Across Midwest

Drifts Clog Highways in Four States

Wind Knocks Down Northern Ohio Tower. Destroys Marion Sign

A wild March snow storm tapered off and whipped through the northeast today after leaving the upper midwest straight-jacketed in the worst late winter weather pounding in a decade.

Numerous highways remained blocked in snow-choked sections of Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan as high winds whipped snowfalls of up to 22 inches into 20-foot drifts.

Snowfall Is 2 Inches

Marion was caught in the southern edge of the storm. Pierce winds blew here Friday, knocking down some TV antennas and an expensive sign at the Bargain City shopping center north of the city.

The mercury got to a high of 46 Friday, fell to an overnight low of 22, then rose to 26 by noon today. An official depth of 2 inches of snow was recorded, but it was light and measured only .04 of an inch of moisture.

It will be "fair and cold" tonight, according to the weatherman, following a day's expected high of 33. The mercury may hit a low of 20 tonight, then rise to a high of 40 Sunday, as more fair weather prevails.

Deaths blamed on the storm numbered 33-12 in Iowa, 10 in Indiana, 6 in Wisconsin, 2 in Michigan, 2 in New York and 1 in Pennsylvania. The presiding dose of winter claimed its victims through snow shoveling heart attacks, traffic accidents and asphyxiation.

Winds gusting up to 50 miles an hour swept the heavy snow area as the storm moved northeastward into Canada.

Two 300-foot radio towers were downed by 45 m.p.h. winds in Bowling Green, Ohio, and a house trailer was overturned while being towed on a highway near Lancaster, Ohio.

Temperatures took a sharp skid east of the Mississippi River, and early morning readings were up to 20 degrees colder than a day earlier.

Tapers Off in Northeast

Snowfall tapered off to flurries in most of the Northeast, although locally heavy flurries deposited a fresh blanket near the lower Great Lakes.

In New England, the precipitation came as heavy rain in mid-50-degree temperatures. A rainfall of 2.17 inches soaked Portland, Maine, halting air traffic and harbor activities. The rain produced local flooding in western Massachusetts and Connecticut.

Cars Abandoned

Highway maintenance officials in Iowa said some communities in the northeastern part of the state would be snowbound for several days in the wake of drifted 20-inch snowfalls. Intercity bus travel over the state was almost nonexistent after the worst snowstorm in 10 years.

Unestimated thousands of cars were abandoned on Iowa highways and city streets, and the situation was little better in Wisconsin where the snow measured up to 22 inches at La Crosse.

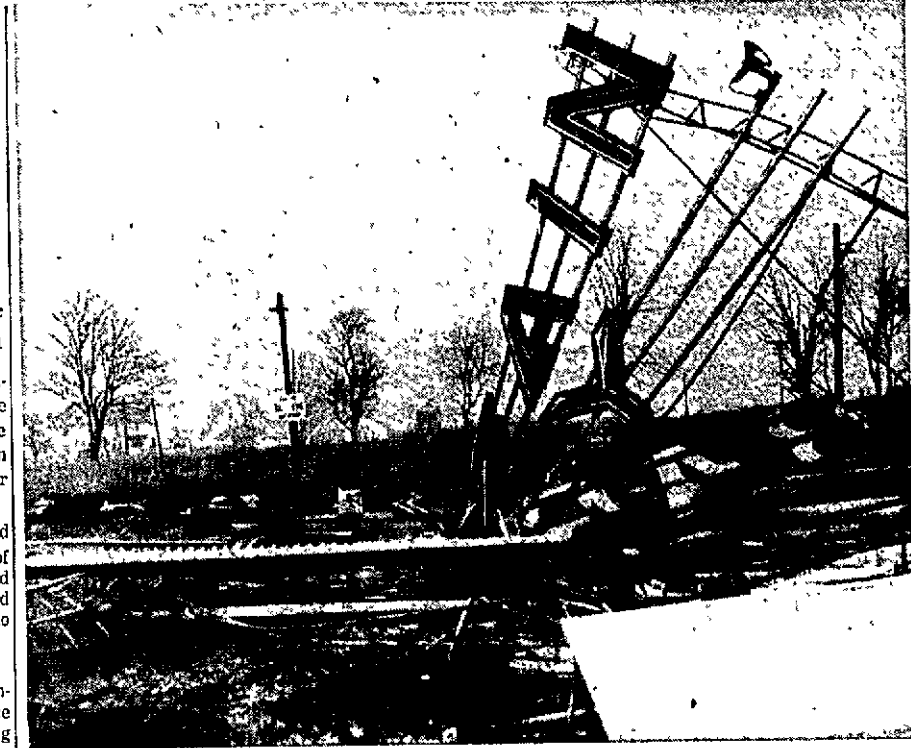

Nyasaland Peace Sought

On 44th Day of Rioting

BLANTYRE, Nyasaland (AP)—With 35 African dead in four straight days of rioting, British administrators of this protectorate today sought out native leaders willing to negotiate a peace.

Gov. Sir Robert Armitage told newsmen he felt negotiations for the territory's future could be carried out with Africans outside the influence of fiery nationalist Dr. Hastings Banda.

The jailing of Banda and other leaders of the banned African National Congress this week sparked a racial uproar among the three million natives who largely share Banda's feeling for an end of white rule.

WIND'S VICTIM. This twisted framework was once the sign that proclaimed in neon lights the site of the Bargain City shopping center just north of Marion. The 42-foot high structure was blown to the ground in Friday's heavy wind. Steve Hurney, manager of the shopping center, estimated the loss at $5,000.

DiSalle Back Salesman Captured Bank Holdup Try Foiled at Bellaire

Of Utilities in Rate Change Governor, Members Of Commission Hear Pleas of Cities, Firms

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle listened to arguments for and against a change in the utility rate formula Friday, and concluded:

"I realize that the municipalities are the under-dogs. But I don't think we can swing the balance to the point of hurting the possibility of risk capital."

"There is a point where reasonable people can agree and I think that it can be reached."

Meets With 40 Officials

About 40 city and utility company officials met with the governor as well as Utility Commission members and a spokesman for the Communication Workers Union.

DiSalle said he called the meeting to clarify his thinking on proposals sponsored by his party in the Democratic-controlled Legislature to change the rate-making formula.

Utility spokesmen said a change would be disruptive and city officials said it would be helpful.

Robert J. White, former Cincinnati utilities director representing that city, Dayton and Mansfield, agreed that utilities were entitled to a fair return to enable them to attract necessary capital, but he said no other state is tied to a single standard in setting rates such as Ohio's formula.

Rate Regulation Sought

"Our proposal is that the hands of the Public Utilities Commission be untied and permitted to regulate with an adequate rate base law," he said. "When utilities are able to hold a gun at the back of cities, there is no effective utility rate regulation in Ohio. The utilities make their own rates."

The present formula, called reconstruction cost new (RCN), is based on the cost of replacing an existing utility company plant at away car cannot be found in the city, it would indicate that Hinkle had a cohort in the robbery—who presumably drove off after Hinkle was caught.

FBI men, who poured into Bellaire after the robbery, also did some speculating. One agent said there was a possibility that Frank Lawrence Spreng, one of the FBI's 10 most wanted criminals, may have worked with Hinkle.

Spreng, 23, sought for the robbery of a Hamilton, Ohio, bank last Monday, also comes from Akron. But beyond that, there was no definite link between the two men.

See Possible Tie-Up

Another FBI agent speculated on a possible tie-up between Friday's robbery and one at a bank in Hopedale, in adjacent Harrison County, in 1956.

The Hopedale robber wore green sunglasses, just as Hinkle did, the agent pointed out, and the general description of the Hopedale man matches closely with Hinkle.

The agent also compared the way the robber of the Hopedale bank walked away—not ran—from the holdup, just as Hinkle did.

The FBI man said he plans to bring the Hopedale bank cashier to Bellaire to try to identify Hinkle.

Authorities plan to move Hinkle to Steubenville as soon as doctors permit. Belmont County authorities said he will be charged with armed robbery, and the FBI said

Anti-Hoodlum Drive Pressed By Authorities

100 Top Underworld Figures Are Target Of Rogers Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP)—Several of the nation's top hoodlums have run into black days since the Justice Department started a big push against the underworld a year ago.

More are expected to topple as federal authorities continue a steady whittling out of cases against underworld characters.

Justice Department officials said today Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers' program for an unrelenting long-term attack on the hoodlum element is moving along just about as planned.

Rogers announced the program a year ago as a systematic "non-sensational" drive to combat organized crime with a highly organized series of prosecutions aimed primarily at getting "the 100 top hoodlums" behind bars or out of the country.

The names on the select list have never been published, but as a starter Rogers ordered a pooling of information on these characters from the files of the FBI, the immigration service, and the Treasury units handling counterfeiting, narcotics, alcohol and income tax casts. Ted Brown Making Study

Legality of May 5 Vote On Annexation Checked

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown expects to hand down a ruling Monday on whether Marion Township will be allowed to vote on the city's annexation proposal at the May 5 primary.

He said Friday afternoon that since the township is not otherwise involved in voting at the primary, he has been asked to rule on whether the issue can legally be submitted in May.

The law provides for voting on annexation proposals at either the primary or general election, he said. But it makes no mention of whether a special election can be called in annexation matters, he added.

"We have the question before us now from the Marion County Board of Elections," said the secretary. "I'd hesitate to say for sure what the real meaning of the statute is in this question... but we'll probably have an answer by Monday."

Although the annexation vote would be held in conjunction with the city primary, it apparently could be construed as a special election for the township since elections there would vote on nothing else.

Mr. Brown said this is an instance of a question arising that apparently wasn't anticipated at the time the law was written.

7 Found Dead

All Appear Victims Of Murder, Suicide, According to Sheriff

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP)—A man depressed by accident injuries and facing a divorce action, killed his wife and five of her children by a previous marriage, Sheriff Dale George said today.

The man then took his own life. The bodies were discovered this morning at the family's rural home eight miles northeast of Lancaster. The sheriff said the deaths may have taken place as long ago as last Thursday night or early Friday.

Roland Soper, 28, was found dead at the wheel of his locked automobile, parked beside the family's home on the Lancaster-Pleasantville road just north of the small community of Colfax.

In the car with him were the bodies of four of his step-children, Roxanne, 6; Vickie, 8; Bobby, 10, and Sharon Walls, 9. One child sat beside him in the front seat, another was on the floor of the rear seat, and two others on the rear seat. All had died from carbon monoxide fumes, the sheriff reported.

In Soper's pocket was found divorce papers filed last Tuesday by his wife, Viola, 29.

SOLOMON

"And Solomon loved the Lord, walking in the statutes of David his father..." —1 Kings 3:3

Solomon, whose name meant "Peace of the Lord," was the son of David and Bathsheba.

As a child he was very devout, and spent many attentive hours listening to the word of God, and worshipping in the temple.

In the Book of Proverbs, which he wrote when he became a man, he said that "By his inclinations, a child is known."

The boy Solomon's inclinations were always clear. While he was still a youth, God appeared to him in a dream and offered him a choice among wisdom, wealth and power.

Without hesitation, Solomon chose wisdom. God was pleased at this. He told him:

"Because thou hast asked this thing, and hast not asked for thyself long life; neither hast asked riches for thyself, nor hast asked the life of thine enemies... I have given thee a wise and understanding heart; so that there was none like thee before thee, neither after thee shall any arise like unto thee."

God then told him that he would also give him riches and honor. And this he did.

Solomon's father David, who all his life dreamed of building a magnificent temple, had hoped that his son Absalom would accomplish the task. But Absalom brought only grief to the king.

It was Solomon who, even as his brother Absalom, listened to his father describe in glowing terms his plans for the temple, finally built the great edifice.

It was Solomon, too, who listened enraptured when his father sometimes sang again the beautiful songs of his own youth as a shepherd boy in the quiet hills of Judea.

Stretched upon a flower-covered terrace at dusk, young Solomon never tired of the psalms, though he knew they were sung as much to his mother Bathsheba as to him. And always, as his father laid aside the harp, he begged for "just one more."

One night David sang a new song. It was a prayer for wisdom, justice and glory. "Give the king thy judgments, O God," it began. And it called upon Jehovah to make him "as a rich cornfield in a land upon the top of the mountains. May his fruit rustle like Lebanon; and may they blossom out of the city like the grass of the earth. May his name endure forever."

"Is it a song about you, father?" asked Solomon.

"No, son," David answered. "It is the Psalm of Solomon."

worship service the sermon will be, "The Holy Spirit." At a meeting of the communicants class Tuesday night there will be discussion concerning the church and a film will be shown. The Meaning of Calvary

A Sermonette
By REV. PAUL PUSEY
Pastor of the Kensington Place Church of the Nazarene

"Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures" (1 Cor. 15:3).

Calvary is the vortex of all scripture. It is the meeting place and fulfillment of all the prophetic promises of the yesterdays. It is the central theme of the entire Word of God. All that we ever get from God, whether it be pardon or purity — or any of the marvelous gifts of divine grace — all come because of Calvary.

Back in the Old Testament days before the plan of redemption had been revealed, there were smoking altars and bleeding sacrifices pointing toward the cross that was yet to come. Golgotha was scheduled to become the greatest altar of sacrifice the world ever had known.

On this side of Calvary we point back to the cross and sing, "At the cross, where I first saw the light;" or

When I survey the wondrous cross,
On which the Prince of Glory died,
My richest gain I count but loss,
And pour contempt on all my pride.

And Calvary becomes the answer to every need of man.

May We Have The Pleasure Of Serving You?

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

It's Never Too Late To Succeed

I am indebted to Mr. W. Alton Jones, chairman of the board of the Cities Service Company for the biography of a "failure." This is how it reads:

Vincent Peale

Defeated for Congress '43; Elected to Congress '46; Defeated for Congress '48; Defeated for Senate '55; Defeated for Vice President '56; Defeated for Senate '58.

Obviously, this is the story of a man who, although his successes were few compared with a long record of failure, didn't stop trying. And his efforts were rewarded, because one other entry should be added to his biography: "Elected President '60."

HIS NAME WAS, of course, Abraham Lincoln and, only last month, on his birthday, people all over the world honored the memory of a great American who knew that failure should not bring about the loss of faith or hope — and that it's never too late to succeed.

This principle of action is true because your failures can make you as well as break you. It all depends on how you take hold of them and what you make of them. James Russell Lowell once wrote, "Mishaps are like knives, that either serve us or cut us, as we grasp them by the blade or the handle." So, grasp it by the blade and you cut yourself; grasp it by the handle and you can use it to get what you want in life.

And the Russians have a proverb I have always found worth remembering: "The hammer shatters glass but forges steel." If you are brittle and delicate in your mind, your failures will shatter you and take away from you the strength to rise and fight again. But, if you have the stuff of steel in you, your failures will hammer out in you new strength and determination to win your way to success.

SUCCESS, AFTER ALL, is the path of courage. James Barrie, in his famous essay on the subject of courage, quotes an old Scotch ballad that makes the point another way:

"Fight on, my men," says Sir Andrew Barton,
"I am hurt, but I am not slain;
I'll lie me down and bleed awhile,
And then I'll rise and fight again."

The important thing to remember is that failure is a fact of life. None of us is able to succeed every time he tries.

I believe that God faces each of us with failure for a purpose. His purpose is to make men of us, strong men, even great men. And manhood, strength and greatness are achieved by learning to handle failure, learning to rise from it, learning to try again, learning that it's never too late to succeed.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Mark	9	30-50
Monday	Psalms	1	1-6
Tuesday	Psalms	119	9-16
Wednesday	Isaiah	7	14-16
Thursday	Acts	3	38-40
Friday	Deuteronomy	30	15-20
Saturday	III John	1	1-4

Of course I don't scare you. I'm only a little boy making believe I'm a big bad man.

Some day, though, I will be big. Some day this game might be real, 'cause even the biggest bad man was once a little boy. And who knows what made him go wrong? That's why early training is so important.

In church and Bible school we learn about God's kindness and love, and how we can trust Him for the things we need. We learn to want to help others, instead of hurting them.

Encourage the children you know to learn all the good they can. Make church and Bible school your family custom—please.

Ohio Assembly Given Free Choice

We don't know whether Gov. DiSalle can make his point or not, but we give him credit for trying to make the General Assembly stick to reality in comments on the state budget.

His budget message contained four realistic proposals — four points of view the General Assembly could take.

The first is to freeze taxing where it is now, in which case the General Assembly would balance the budget by slashing all expenditures to the bone. The fact is that Ohio has been running behind on tax revenue since 1947 and hiding this from its taxpayers by living off surpluses piled up during the war years. But now the surplus is gone.

But does the General Assembly intend to retrench?

The second choice given the Assembly in the governor's budget message is to turn over to local government all future responsibility for the $40 out of every $100 that the state collects and distributes for schools, subsidies, highways, streets and so forth. This would leave the state treasury relatively unencumbered. It also would leave the General Assembly unencumbered.

But would the General Assembly like to be unencumbered?

The third choice is to retrench everywhere else and let the state highway program run on without any cutback and without any new tax revenue to underwrite its cost. This would run the state into a financial hole, with serious effects on its credit. The Assembly would not like that, either.

The fourth choice, which Gov. DiSalle recommends, is to give a little and take a little on budget requests, then balance the total with enough new taxation to make ends meet. This would mean increases in both spending and taxing.

It is not government as such that is causing the state to need more money but the money it collects and spends for public education, for the care of the blind, the aged, the mentally ill and people who break the law. Government takes only about 14 per cent of the money that is paid into the general fund. All the rest is for the direct benefit of Ohio residents.

Gov. DiSalle has made a realistic approach to the budgeting problem that nags every governor. He has asked his fellow Ohioans to understand what makes the budget the way it is; to understand that taxation is the price they are paying for all the things their legislators have agreed to do.

Therefore, every critic of taxing must prove his good faith by becoming a critic of some form of spending that he wants to abolish. Otherwise, he is talking through his financial hat.

Ohio, unlike the United States, cannot fudge the financial issue by going endlessly into debt to conceal from voters that politicians are buying favor with public money they are not courageous enough to ask for in the form of taxes. It must balance as it goes, or retrench.

No Man Can Stand by Himself

Members of Congress do not have to be told that nothing hurts congressional prestige more than charges of nepotism. Cries of protest avail nothing. Caesar's wife should be above suspicion, and congressmen should be above milking the public payroll.

The fact they can get away with it — and always have gotten away with it — does not offset the damage it does to the people's faith in representative democracy. Yet, it is a question whether the congressmen who do it really understand what is wrong with nepotism.

Their customary point out when they are criticized that their wife, their son, daughter, niece, nephew, sister, or whoever it is among their relatives they have put on the payroll is "indispensable" — someone who could not be replaced. When reporters checked the House of Representatives payroll last month they found at least 125 of these indispensable people on the staffs of 60 representatives; there presumably are more than that. The Senate has its share, too, it must be assumed, though the Senate reveals no information about its payroll.

What makes nepotism wrong?

Simply that it is a gesture of contempt to charge for services that either would be free under other circumstances, or never would be performed.

Millions of private citizens get help from their wives, sons and daughters — unpaid help given as a token of esteem. Under no circumstances would an employer be expected to put these relatives on his payroll, however. That is something that only the government is supposed to stand for — and every time it comes to light again people feel a little sick inside about public servants who chisel their master.

The Art of Staying on the Handle

The one thing most nearly calculated to give the heebie-jeebies to the people who are trying to give us the heebie-jeebies in the international war of nerves happening in this week's White House press conference.

The President of the United States failed to fly off the handle with the bird-brains whose idea of meeting an emergency is first to get both feet off the ground.

He said he did not see any reason for general mobilization, nor to maintain a permanent Strategic Air Command alert.

He could think of no eventuality that would cause the United States to strike the first blow — to start a war of physical destruction at the breaking point in a war of nerves.

He said, as he has said before to listeners at a press conference, that he had enough faith in his country's security machinery to take it at its word, instead of believing only the rumors and reports, that purport to show what is going on in the enigmatic minds of the men in the Kremlin.

Here was a good example of a chief executive keeping his hair on, instead of joining lip-licking Nervous Nellies who want to call the fire department, the police department, the FBI, the Coast Guard, the U.S. Marines, their Aunt Agatha and the undertaker simultaneously.

Their antics would be funny if they were not potentially tragic, because they are doing, in a war of nerves, the one thing they cannot afford to do. They are the kind to wring hands and squeal, "Why doesn't somebody do something?" They are the kind to throw the mirror out the window and carry out the mattress.

It's good to know they do not have one of their kind in the White House. If it's going to be a case of who cracks first, Ike or Nikita, we'll take Ike at 10-1.

With Best Wishes

Gordon Larson will leave Marion Harding High School to undertake new duties on the Ohio State University football coaching staff with the best wishes of this community.

In four years he brought Harding football to the Ohio scholastic pinnacle. Once almost a gridiron nonentity from the standpoint of state recognition, Marion Harding now is a respected, and feared, football power.

All this has been done, in our considered opinion, without dangerous overemphasis of football and without losing sight of the primary school goal, which is the proper education of youngsters.

It is this proper balance of athletic coaching prowess and youth leadership which has made Gordon Larson such a marked success here, and it is this same combination which Supt. Robert S. Brown and the city board of education will be seeking in a new coach.

Meanwhile, Marion is an extremely strong Ohio State city and Larson's progress there will be followed closely, with great pride.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Survey shows doctors, always telling patients they must get more rest and checkups, brush off their own advice. Less than half had undergone checkup in the last year and a half. Twenty per cent hadn't had one in four years.

Patients suffering from strain are being treated by doctors in worse shape than they are. They are taking advice "You have got to relax more" from physicians asleep on their feet from exhaustion.

THOUSANDS RUSH to doctors' offices these days where a dozen rushed in bygone days. The result is that offices are so crowded it is easier to get a seat at the World Series.

Some patients feel they have been around the office longer than the magazines. Doctors are putting in more hours than overtime factory workers. Appointment means "little. You can get there at 1 p.m. and still be waiting for your turn at dinnertime.

Doctors are using the multiple-room or chute-the-chute system to keep patients from getting uneasy. The nurse shunts them into the doctor's presence a few yards at a time.

There should be a referee calling "Second down, five yards to go." You can always tell the physician from the patients. (The doctor is the pale one, with the baggy eyes.) If he looks healthy he must be so young he hasn't built up a practice yet.

We went to see our doctor yesterday. From a casual look it was clear he was in worse shape than the last time, which was pretty bad.

Our diagnosis was that he was suffering from rapid pulse, heart murmur, occupational indigestion, high tension, galloping nervousness, lack of sleep and a chronic case of not knowing when he had had enough.

We calmed him down with a tranquilizer and prescribed six different vitamins, two tired-blood remedies, one fishing rod, a box of golf balls and four winter vacation pamphlets to be taken after every meal and between patients.

IN SENTENCING DAVE BECK to five years in hoosegow the judge excoriated him as "cheating every last humble American taxpayer." Beck began as a laundry wagon driver. Wonder what his reply was in those days to customers' squawks, "Hey, one of my shirts is missing."

Stick-up and frisking of passengers in crowded bus-in Jersey was in the manner of the Old West, and we hear a kid passenger, who follows TV westerns, piped, "Mommer, where are their horses?" They say the bus driver exclaimed, as the bandits fled, "With all that nerve it's a wonder they didn't ask for a transfer."

ALBIE BOOTH, dead at 51, was the most exciting football broken field runner this writer ever saw. He went through teams like an eel through a torn net. He was "Little Boy Blue," the "Mighty Mite" and he was greased lightning.

(Associated Newspapers)

Each Friday, amid the tensions, wars and tyrannies of the Middle East, a dedicated band of Franciscan Fathers relives the events of the Via Dolorosa, the last path of Jesus Christ from His condemnation to His tomb.

Recently, I joined them in their sad journey past the stations where Jesus received his cross, where Simon of Cyrene helped Him to carry it, where He met the women of Jerusalem, and on to Calvary.

I marveled that, throughout the years of man-made violence that have swept the Holy Land, this simple act of devotion has prevailed for six centuries, demonstrating that the enduring love Christ taught us is stronger than the passing tensions of the day.

School Notes

ATLANTA, Ga. This is from notes made at the United Nations in New York.

So, you are worried about your child's education!

You are, maybe, in one of the deep South States where red-faced and red-necked politicians are determined to have their way, even if it abolishes public education. Privately they admit this is crazy and wrong. But they are the 20th century version of those who, with a do-it-yourself political kit, have made themselves a Frankenstein.

Or, you are parents in some other state where the problem is that the classrooms are too few and those which exist are overcrowded and the teachers too few.

There is, too, the shadow of Russian education and the query of whether our education is tough enough? Is it true that our education is too easy, that booze is too cheap, that sloppy work still brings high wages, that our values and priorities are shabby and, once we attain them, there is no satisfaction in the attainment?

Anyhow, you are an American parent and you are worried about your child's education.

WE WILL NOW switch to the 7-pound volume, 1,387-page report on world education by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO).

Maybe you think you are the only worried parents!

And maybe you think that all fathers and mothers don't dream dreams for their children and their future!

The survey is based on a careful appraisal of 197 school systems throughout the world.

Here are some facts, accurate and double-checked.

Of the 550 million children in the world between the ages of 5 and 14, an approximate 250 million are without any schooling whatever. That is one-half!

The lowest primary enrollment was, not unexpectedly, in the Asian and African countries. But there it also is rapidly increasing as the new fervor of nationalism demands education.

Girls are the most mistreated, although schools are being opened to them. The countries where girls are still largely excluded from learning are Nepal and Afghanistan.

The countries with relatively old, and advanced, systems of education are all like the United States — suffering from too little financial support, shortages of teachers and too few classrooms.

Indeed, it is in the countries where education has proved itself, that the neglect of it is the most threatening. It is, for example, an incredible fact that in the last half of the 20th century, there should be some areas where the people are supinely agreeing that abolishment of the public school system is to be accepted.

IN THE COUNTRIES, newly come to independence, the thirst for a national system of education is great. It will not be denied.

The Russians, though they seek, and apparently are somewhat successful in making of education a tool to attain Marxist objectives, nonetheless are not starving their schools.

The United States worries about frills. Obviously, for example, driver training is necessary in our country. But it should not be a part of education. It is a vocational-type subject.

Greenland is undergoing the same sort of re-evaluation. In that country the girls are taught to sew skins and the boys to drive dog teams. Both are needed. But they are not really a part of what we mean by education.

But, what the industrially developed, comfortable countries should realize is that education brought them where they are, comfortable. Their standard of living is high. It is so high that it is becoming very expensive.

Childishly, we complain about taxes, refusing to believe that all services, as well as leisure, have a cost tag.

Battle Over the Border

Hollis Limprecht

OMAHA. Not all border disputes involve nations these days. A lively one is under way between Nebraska and Iowa.

What troubles the Nebraskans most is that when Omahans want to do a little after-hours gambling they go to Carter Lake — Iowa territory. Omaha authorities say that Iowa authorities are lax in enforcing the law in Carter Lake.

The meandering Missouri River separates the two states is the cause of the dispute.

During the 80-odd years of statehood, the river has wandered back and forth across a flood plain several miles wide. The river banks were designated as the original boundary between the states. But every time the river has wandered or changed its course it has left some of Iowa on the Nebraska side of the river or some of Nebraska in Iowa.

ONE OF THE MOST valuable pieces of Iowa on the Nebraska side of the river is Carter Lake, Ia., a village of some 1,600 population.

Carter Lake, still Iowa territory, found itself on the Nebraska side of the river about 60 years ago when a flood caused a major change in the river's course.

Carter Lake is a thorn in the side of Omaha, a city of some 320,000 population. The village is located within the Omaha city limits, and persons wishing to reach the Omaha Municipal Airport from downtown must drive right by it.

What troubles the Nebraskans most is that when Omahans want to do a little after-hours gambling they go to Carter Lake — Iowa territory. Omaha authorities say that Iowa authorities are lax in enforcing the law in Carter Lake.

STABILIZATION OF THE Missouri River by the Corps of Engineers in the multimillion-dollar Missouri basin development program has brought up the subject of re-establishing the border.

An area of several hundred acres of excellent duck and geese hunting land upriver from Nebraska, known as De Soto bend, is slated to become a waterfowl sanctuary. The engineers will cut a channel across a loop in the river, thereby creating a large "island." This loop is now in Nebraska, but after the channel is cut, the sanctuary will be on the east, or Iowa, side of the river.

Gov. Victor Anderson of Nebraska has suggested that the center line of the river be the boundary. Many Iowans oppose this, as it would place Carter Lake in Nebraska.

GRIN AND BEAR IT

By George Lichty

"The house in a mess and a television program I want to see! . . . My intuition tells me we're going to have company, Smedley!"

It doesn't take much to stir up the animals. Now it's Lady Godiva who has me engaged in transcontinental correspondence. Not with the lady of course but with her fans. She seems considerably well known. There is wrath about it in some quarters.

All I did was ask if a modern Godiva, willing to ride unclad through the streets of Washington, might influence the tax vultures as Godiva is said to have affected tax remission in Coventry back in the year 1040 or thereabouts.

Here's how it happened: I thought of Godiva as an approach to tax reform. I brushed up on her weird story and found two encyclopedias that cast little doubt on its basic truth, except the part about the tailor, "Peeping Tom," going blind. Otherwise a trusting reader would accept the yarn hook, line and sinker.

I found a third encyclopedia, which declares the whole thing is the bunk, with day and date.

THEN WHAT happens? The intelligentia doesn't want it that way. They won't swallow the Peeping Tom part but they cling to Godiva's ride like leeches, their letters reflect.

Sorry to inter an age-old legend. It seems that even 900 years ago writing wags made a living with their imagination and one of 'em wrote a column that stuck: just like I'd like to. Here's what the third encyclopedia reveals about Lady Godiva's naked ride through the streets of Coventry:

The myth was born around 1154, a whole century after Godiva's death, its author unknown, the book says. In the next century, 1230, it was repeated and revived by Roger of Wentworth. It became an accepted legend and about 1800 Leigh Hunt, English essayist and critic, retold it. Fifty years later Lord Tennyson, English poet laureate, put it into verse.

The Peeping Tom phase didn't appear until 200 years after the story was first written. That Tom was stricken blind for peeking didn't show up until 600 years after that, as late as our grandfather's time.

There was no Coventry in Godiva's day. There was a covent (convent) where Coventry grew up, to which the city owes its name. Lady Godiva herself had great wealth and with her husband, Earl Leofric, established a Benedictine monastery there in 1043.

IN THIS religious establishment there were only 60 wooden, single story dwellings. In creating the abbey Godiva stripped herself of much of her wealth but none of her apparel. Outside the abbey grounds there were no streets through which to ride, either naked or clothed; and no tolls existed to be remitted until more than 100 years after Godiva passed to her reward, leaving behind a legend that has misrepresented the generous lord and lady and picked up Peeping Tom and slanderous implications on its way.

In the locale from which the story came it is still celebrated. Since 1690 a stained glass window in St. Michael's Church commemorates the "ride." The oaken figure at Coventry which is called "Peeping Tom" was an image of St. George and was moved to where it stands in 1812, the dis-senting authority claims.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: They're telling a story around here about a situation that developed between two families that were trying to keep up with each other. Neither family was named Jones, by the way.

But the competition was getting rough for the second family because it had let itself be put on the defensive. Instead of thinking up things to make the first family feel miserable, it was waiting for the first family to make the first move all the time. Then it would try to catch up.

The first family finally figured out that the second family had a conditioned reflex. Whenever it was confronted with something new, it automatically tried to catch up. The plot thickened.

The first family rented a new car and kept it a week. After the third day, the second family plunged for a new car it couldn't afford.

The first family had a truck deliver a box labeled "Color Television." The second family, when it found out, bought a color television set, not knowing the box delivered to the first family was empty.

The first family said it would go to Hawaii for a vacation, which caused the second family to go to New Orleans for the Mardi Gras, a jaunt it did not particularly enjoy and clearly couldn't afford. Neither could the first family, which never got closer to Hawaii than an artificial beach near a motel in the adjoining county.

And that was the way it went. The second family always took it for granted that the first family was on the level, and the first family was cute enough to play out the string for all it was worth. This went on for a couple of years. It would have gone on indefinitely if the first family hadn't grown tired of the sport and quit egging on the suckers. Before they gave up, they even went through the motions of sending their oldest girl to Vassar. She actually did attend the state university for one term, but Family No. 2 took the bait and sent their kid to Leland Stanford University — for a fact.

Actually, it wasn't such a bad idea in the long run. Family No. 2 profited from the competition, even if it was phony. They did many things they would not have done otherwise. But what hurt was the cruel deception and the agonizing self-pity that ensued whenever Family No. 1 stole another march on them.

If Family No. 2 had used the wits that the Almighty gave a toad, it would have known all along that it was being spoofed, like the time they heard their rivals were going to build a swimming pool in the attic.

It was preposterous to build a swimming pool in the attic. But the way they tell the story, the fools of the other family felt so sorry for themselves they were getting estimates on swimming pools, just in case the rumor proved to have substance to it.

I will leave you to ponder the parable, which should not be too difficult for a boy of your over-30 IQ.

We are well here and hope you are the same, though both of us could wish we were better than we feel we are most of the time. Your aunt keeps saying we should move to Florida, but I am holding out for the Riviera, and we are deadlocked. Both of us send regards. Cotton Corners UNCLE GEORGE

News of Other Years

40 YEARS AGO — The campaign for a League of the Preservation of American Independence, which was launched at a meeting of the Society of Merits and Letters in New York City by opponents of the League of Nations plan as it was then constituted, got into full swing.

The American peace delegates then in Paris, except E. M. House, held a conference in Secretary Lansing's office in the Hotel Crillon to formulate plans to end the food crisis in central and southern Europe. It was reported that the Americans later entered a meeting of the "Council of Ten" with definite proposals to clear up the food situation.

It was believed that the draft of the constitution of the League of Nations would be radically amended. It was also learned that the British agreed with President Wilson that without a League of Nations, the peace treaty would be only a scrap of paper.

20 YEARS AGO — Sen. Bone, (D-Washington), announced that a large group of senators soon would propose drastic tax legislation to take the profit out of war.

The legislation would automatically impose a heavy schedule of personal and corporate profits taxes if the country went to war. Senators were approaching the final vote on the army expansion bill.

Approximately 400 attended a meeting of the Marion Academy of Medicine when physicians, dentists and attorneys of Marion and surrounding counties heard talks by experts on state medicine and on the malpractice act. The dinner meeting was held at Hotel Harding.

10 YEARS AGO — "Treat those 1949 aluminum auto tags with kid gloves" advised Orla E. Barks, Marion deputy registrar. One Marion driver had complained he tore his plates when bolting them to his car and others reported tags bent by strong wind.

Efforts were being made to resurrect the oleomargarine bill in the Ohio Senate, defeated by one vote the previous week. The bill, initiated by petition of electors, was designed to legalize the manufacture and sale of colored margarine.

TIME WILL TELL whether or not your broadloom carpet is a bargain! You can't judge by price and good looks alone. Some "bargain" broadlooms look handsome in the store, but after mere months on the floor they look flat, washed-out and worn. You'll never make that expensive mistake if you buy our "Sabre" all-wool textured tweed. At only $9.95 a square yard, it's a bargain that lasts. The colors stay fresh and clear, the pile stays high and springy.

No need to wait for time to tell you that all this is true. We've tested it thoroughly for you: Sabre is resilient, dirt-resistant, easy to vacuum clean or sweep. It has more surface yarn than many carpets at dollars more. Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann: I'm 21, in college and engaged to a beautiful girl. I've considered marriage (in about three years) and she's willing to wait. The trouble is, she's so suspicious I can't make a move without her checking up to see if I'm where I'm supposed to be.

Her father cheated on her mother left and right and, although they fought constantly, she says she's going to make sure BEFORE marriage that her guy is a one-woman man.

It's very embarrassing to have her phone the fraternity house three times in one evening. Frequently I find her parked outside in her car when I leave the library.

I've given her no reason to distrust me. Do you think she'll outgrow this? I'm very troubled and need advice. — THE HUNTED.

Dear Hunted: The girl's tempestuous home life and her own sense of inadequacy have twisted her thinking pretty thoroughly. Since you've given her no cause for concern and she insists on keeping the bloodhounds on the trail, suggest gently that her groundless fears are symptoms of a sick personality and that she should get professional help.

If she refuses to accept this notion, ease out of the romance or prepare for a life of misery. Unduly suspicious people sometimes develop vivid imaginations and become unable to distinguish fantasy from reality. After many years the pattern becomes set and the person becomes unteachable and unreachable.

Her Life

Dear Ann Landers: Our only daughter married a no-good loafer. We never liked him and she knew it.

She opened a beauty shop in her home and works 14 hours a day to support this bum and their three children. It breaks our hearts to see this once-beautiful girl slaving away and doing the work of three people.

Never once does she utter a word of complaint. She tells us she is "happy," that he's a good father, and husband but down on his luck temporarily. She won't let us help her financially although we know she can use it. We've told her our home is open to her and the children but she refuses to discuss it. How can we help her? We fear her health will break down if she keeps this up. — HEARTSICK PARENTS.

Dear Heartsick Parents: If you honestly want to help her, stop dramatizing your sorrow and making offers to break up her home. The woman says she is happy and maybe she is.

It could be that she's trying to make the best of a poor situation (and perhaps she's not as miserable as you think). The kindest thing you can do is to pretend not to notice her difficulties. Leave the girl a little dignity.

Whose Wedding?

Dear Ann: A wedding is coming up soon (mine) and I'm having a few problems.

My aunt, who has always run the family (she never married and is terribly bossy), says bridesmaids should be cousins of the bride and ushers should be cousins of the bridegroom. It so happens I don't care for my cousins and my fiancé can't stand his.

My aunt says this doesn't make any difference. She claims the law of etiquette should take precedence over personal feelings. Is she right? — COUSIN HATERS.

Dear Cousin Haters: She is wrong. Tell her the bride and bridegroom have the privilege of selecting the members of the wedding party. It would be nice if you liked your cousins but since you do not, simply invite them as guests and call it a day.

P.S.: Is your aunt paying for the wedding, or does she just have everyone in the family terrified?

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Marion Star, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Village Planning To Purchase Land For New Firehouse

ASHLEY — A decision to purchase a tract of land at the corner of N. Harrison and E. Taylor streets—providing it is for sale—as the site for a new fire house was reached by the Ashley Village Council in a special meeting Friday night.

The lot presently is owned by the Trinity Baptist Church. A one-story building on the property is now occupied by the Pilgrim Holiness Church which expects to move into its own new church building sometime this spring.

If the village council finds the lot can be purchased, it plans to move the existing building about one block away on E. Taylor St. to the rear of the village water tower and to use it for a storage building and garage for village vehicles.

The meeting last night was attended by the volunteer firemen and by other interested persons.

Minors Get Big Share

State's Budget Puts Accent on Youth

By DUANE E. CROFT
Marion Star Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Among the special features that stand out in a second or third look at the Ohio budget for the next biennium, one of the most interesting is the accent on youth.

A rundown of the items specifically earmarked for the care and improvement of youngsters shows the state's minors account for a major part of the expenditures.

Increases recommended in youth programs by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and his staff add up to $79,620,000 for a total request of $554,670,000.

Education Gets Most

Education, of course, takes the lion's share — $427,900,000 for public education plus $99,400,000 to operate the six state universities. Their combined increase over the present two-year appropriation is $68,300,000, a sizable slice of it automatically required under the school foundation fund program.

The biggest percentage increase for a single program in DiSalle's budget is for another youth item — 11½ million dollars for the Division of Juvenile Research, Classification and Training in the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction.

"This situation is one in which we must pay the price of years of neglect," the governor told the legislators. "This neglect has resulted in near-chaotic deterioration of this program."

Scholarships Asked

The only entirely new item on the "young" side of the ledger is the smallest. But the $500,000 asked for a state scholarship fund augmented by private subscription could be one of the most far-reaching if it wins the Assembly's approval.

It would, the governor said, "give needed assistance to worthy students who would otherwise be unable to gain a college education. . . . We presently forego the benefits of outstanding minds due simply to economic barriers."

Those are only a few of the ways in which the state invests in its young people. The others include aid to dependent children, to crippled children and for education of mentally deficient youth.

Overenthusiastic

In his struggle to find the extra revenue needed to operate Ohio in the black and still provide increased "necessities," Gov. DiSalle appears to have been overenthusiastic about one source of income.

In his press briefing on the budget, he estimated a sales tax on hotel and motel services would produce 15 million dollars for the biennium.

The recent Legislative Service Commission report on state finances and tax resources, however, estimated such a tax would produce $1,885,000 a year, or a little less than four million for the two-year period.

Bowling Green's Radio Towers Felled by Wind

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — Radio station WTGL hopes to be back in operation today after Friday's high winds leveled their twin 300-foot towers.

Howard Ward, station owner, said damage would be about $25,000. Two years ago a similar accident happened.

Ward said he will again use a balloon to raise a temporary antenna. The last time he tried this, Ward remarked, someone used homemade anti-aircraft to shoot down the balloon.

To Your Good Health

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Young Boy Has a Penchant for Gun Play

"Dear Dr. Molner: My problem concerns my 24 year old son who was given a pistol and holster set. It became his almost constant companion. One day I reminded him for something and he ran to his toy box, dug out the gun and came back and 'shot me' in his anger."

"I was shocked," Dr. Molner said, "and immediately confiscated the gun." Several months later we thought he might have aged enough to have changed his attitude but as soon as we'd spank him he'd get his gun.

At the time of the first occurrence we stopped all but cartoon programs and non-violent television shows, thinking this could be the cause.

"People I've spoken to regarding this attitude tell me their children never do it. My question is, will he outgrow it? He can't always be shielded from firearms (we have a pistol ourselves) and it is of great concern to my husband and me. We've read different articles about gun play and wonder if taking guns away from him till he is older is the solution.—Mrs. T.B."

Maybe some experts in bringing up children will disagree with me, but I think you are building this action into too much of a problem.

A young child is likely, as soon as the idea gets into his head, to do something "violent" to people who displease or oppose him. He'll shout, "I'm going to kill you!" although he hasn't much idea what "kill" means.

"Shooting" you with the toy gun is the same thing.

You spanked him. He's going to retaliate!

Many a child has shouted, "I hate you!" but meant it only for the moment. Little ones divide things into good-bad, love-hate, happy-desolate, full-starved. There is nothing between.

NOW IN THIS youngster's case, I dare say somebody has put too much stress on the idea of a pistol being a damaging thing. Lots of children have toy pistols, and regard them as toys, without having the idea that a real gun shoots bullets. That concept doesn't occur to a child. He has to absorb the idea from someone else.

Mrs. T. B. is very conscious of having a real pistol in the house. (Keep it safely out of sight and out of reach!) My guess is that a great deal was made of the toy pistol in the beginning; the little fellow was taught to point it, and regard it as a weapon. When he was angry at mother, he reacted in accordance with the idea of guns that had been impressed on him. That's all.

I certainly don't think it means that this child, not yet 3 years old, has any unexplainable instinct to shoot!

WHETHER HE'LL outgrow his attitude I couldn't say. I don't imagine he'll forget what he has learned so far.

But I know what I'd do. I'd stop making such a big thing out of this incident. I'd just stop mentioning pistols. I'd buy no more—but I wouldn't let anything that happens with this one be built into a big issue. Why keep impressing the idea on the little boy's mind. Forget about it.

And some years from now, when he's old enough to reason, start over with the rule that should be learned by everyone who handles firearms, toys or not: Never point a gun at anyone else. But he's too young now to learn that.

"Dear Dr. Molner: In your booklet on constipation, you recommend water drinking. Do other liquids count, such as milk, coffee, fruit juices? Or must one drink water in addition?—Mrs. R."

"No, those liquids are perfectly acceptable because the liquid in them is—water!"

Note to Mrs. V. C.: When trouble (and bleeding) persist for two years after an operation for fistula, it is high time to have another examination. It may be nothing serious, and probably is not, but have a checkup.

Do you have a problem with old people? If so, write to me in care of this newspaper, requesting a copy of my pamphlet, "What To Do About Elderly Folk," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and five cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Kennedy Says Political Help Bribe Offered

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Robert Kennedy, chief counsel of the Senate Labor-Management Committee, says some elements of both management and labor offered him political support for his brother, Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), in exchange for laying off parties summoned by the committee.

Sen. Kennedy is regarded as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. Robert Kennedy told a news conference Friday "the most serious attempt came from management" but added he also had a serious offer from labor. He declined to name names and said no money was offered.

Asked how many offers were made, Kennedy said "several more than one."

Later in the interview Kennedy referred to "both cases" in which he received rather specific talk about the support offered for his brother.

Asked whether this was political or financial aid, Kennedy replied: "political support."

In two cases, he said at another point, those making the proposals were in a position to execute the offer. Both offers "in which the people making the offer had some power," he said, came within the last year.

One union has been involved in a "similar" offer, Kennedy said. But he declined to discuss the case any further except to say that the union has been under investigation.

Theater Attractions

Following is a summary of the motion pictures that will be presented at theaters in Marion next week.

—Palace—
Two entertainment favorites will return to the Palace Theater Sunday through Tuesday in double billing. They are "A Place in the Sun" and "Stalag 17."

Starring Elizabeth Taylor and Montgomery Clift, "A Place in the Sun" is the absorbing emotional story of a fateful romance involving three young people. Clift is entangled in two love affairs and contemplates murdering Shelley Winters when she stands in the way of his marrying Elizabeth Taylor.

He takes her out in a boat to carry out his plan, but has a change of heart. By some quirk of fate, however, she stands up, causing the small craft to overturn, and is drowned. A jury finds him guilty for a murder he did not commit, and he is sentenced to die. The movie is an Academy Award-winning production of George Stevens.

Based on the stage triumph that for three years rocked the nation, "Stalag 17" is an uproariously humorous story of a group of captured airmen who attempt to detect the identity of an informer in their midst.

The plot evolves against the bleak background of a German prisoner-of-war camp. The motion picture has won a "Best Actor Academy Award" for its star, William Holden. Other cast headliners are Don Taylor and Otto Preminger.

Playing Wednesday through Saturday, "The Journey" reunites Deborah Kerr and Yul Brynner in their first screen appearance together since "The King and I." On the same billing is "Nowhere To Go," starring George Nader.

Framed against the 1956 Hungarian revolt, "The Journey" is both a love story and a powerful drama. It was filmed entirely on location in Austria near the Hungarian border.

Robert Morley and E. G. Marshall hold co-starring roles and the film introduces the young Broadway star, Jason Robards Jr.

A group of neutrals attempt to escape by bus from revolt-torn Budapest to the Austrian border. An emotional situation arises between one of the passengers, a beautiful Englishwoman played by Deborah Kerr, and the stern Russian commander, Yul Brynner, who holds the fate of the group in his hands.

The woman is trying to help a Hungarian scientist and freedom fighter to escape from the Russians and is afraid Brynner, as Major Surov, will guess his identity.

The travelers are detained at a frontier town near the border and the Englishwoman, against her will, capitalizes on the major's affection for her in hopes that it will gain freedom for the band.

The drama explodes when she and the Hungarian scientist escape across a lake into Austria.

"Nowhere To Go" is a dramatic thriller, telling the story of a con-man who is willing to exchange a prison sentence for the money he has obtained by defrauding a rich, elderly woman. Trouble starts when he finds that his gamble does not pay off.

The picture is based on the novel by Donald MacKenzie who himself served three years in Sing Sing. Other principal roles are played by Maggie Smith, British newcomer; Bernard Lee and Bessie Love, one of Hollywood's famous silent-day stars.

—Ohio—

The human drama of one courageous woman, played against an Oriental backdrop, is combined with romance, violence and mysticism in Buddy Adler's cinematic color production of "The Inn of the Sixth Happiness." It will continue through Tuesday at the Ohio Theater.

As Gladys Aylward, the young Englishwoman determined to help the Chinese masses, Miss Bergman travels across Communist Russia and Siberia to China where she finds her destiny in the lives of poor peasants and a man of different race, played by Curt Jurgens.

She faces rejection and discouragement in her adopted nation's bleakest hour, but carries on with love and faith. In the face of military conflict, she sets out on a 1,000 mile trek across the mountains to bring 100 Chinese children to safety.

The dynamic story is based on the novel, "The Small Woman," by Alan Burgess. The late Robert Donat also stars in the film.

A children's matinee, featuring six Walt Disney cartoons, will be held Sunday at 1:30 p.m. The screen version of the nation's No. 1 best seller, "Rally Around the Flag Boys" will start Wednesday at the Ohio. Featured on the same billing will be "Smiley Gets a Gun."

Packed with hilariously humorous situations, "Rally Around the Flag Boys" boasts a top flight cast including Paul Newman, Joanne Woodward, Joan Collins and Jack Carson.

Harry Bannerman is a typical young commuter with a pretty wife who has a habit of placing her civic activities before hubby in this screen adaptation of Max Shulman's novel.

Things start popping when Harry gets involved in a top Army secret project, thanks to his wife. The fact that he is actively pursued by an attractive, but neglected housewife, Angela Hoffa, does little to stabilize the situation.

AS A CHINESE MISSIONARY dedicated to the service of mankind, Ingrid Bergman plays one of her most gripping roles in "The Inn of the Sixth Happiness," booked at the Ohio Theater through Tuesday. She is the center of a powerful drama of love, war and sacrifice. Co-starring with Miss Bergman are Curt Jurgens and the late Robert Donat. The film is a Twentieth Century Fox cinemascopic production.

The whole town becomes entangled in Harry's problems as he tries to cement relations with the Army. A big pageant, re-enacting the Pilgrims' landing, turns into a free for all with Harry left holding the bag.

In the midst of the chaos the secret Army project is revealed and not only a guided missile base unfolds, but a comical incident which tops off the show.

"Smiley Gets a Gun," starring Keith Calverly, is the saga of a sort of Australian Tom Sawyer who performs several fates and earns his own .22 rifle from a friendly police sergeant.

It also stars the British actress, Dame Sybil Thorndike, Australian star "Chips" Rafferty, and Bruce Archer.

Japan Prime Minister Hatoyama Is Dead at 76

TOKYO (AP) — Ichiro Hatoyama, 76, crippled former prime minister who helped restore Japan's postwar diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union, died today of a heart attack.

Hatoyama, prime minister three times from December 1954 to December 1956, died at his Tokyo home before a doctor could arrive after he had suffered severe chest pains.

He had been in poor health since he suffered a stroke in 1951. It left him partially paralyzed and with a slight speech impediment. In 1956 he made a sudden trip to Moscow and returned with a World War II peace agreement, signed a short time later in Tokyo. A formal treaty is still pending. Hatoyama was considered a firm friend of the West.

Sheriff Shoots Fugitive After Southern Hunt

SOUTH PITTSBURG, Tenn. (AP)—A Tennessee Highway Patrol dispatcher in nearby Chattanooga said today a man he identified as Alabama desperado William E. Smothers was shot and wounded by the sheriff of Dade County, Ga., near Wildwood, Ga. today.

The dispatcher said Smothers was still alive and that a Georgia ambulance, believed from Dade County, was taking Smothers to a hospital. The location of the hospital was not determined immediately.

The search for the crafty, cigar-smoking desperado, who held four persons hostage in his flight from Alabama imprisonment, had centered in this southeastern Tennessee area.

Possemen, mobilized from Tennessee, Georgia and Alabama, said their task was made doubly hard because the fugitive, William E. Smothers, 38, was thoroughly familiar with this cave-pocked tri-state area and has numerous friends in the section.

Officers believed Smothers was trying to reach Chattanooga, about 35 miles east of here, where he has relatives. Chattanooga police reported they had the relatives' homes under surveillance.

Smothers made his bid for freedom Thursday while being taken by auto to Birmingham from Kilby Prison at Montgomery, Ala., where he was serving robbery sentences totaling 100 years. He was to stand trial in Birmingham on charges of possessing a pistol after conviction of a larceny.

Unlocking his handcuffs and chains with a homemade key, Smothers gained control over Alabama patrolman Otto Dees and the driver of the car, Ted Easley, a prison trustee serving 25 years for murder.

About noon Thursday, armed with Dees' revolver, Smothers added Mr. and Mrs. Noel Keith to his group of hostages. He kidnapped the couple at their home near Birmingham and took their car.

Following a cautious drive to Flat Rock, Ala., about 25 miles south of here, the hostages were released unharmed. It was the Keiths' auto that later was found near South Pittsburg.

Fred Stone, Star Of Stage, Screen, Dies in Hollywood

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Fred Stone, whose nimble song and dance acts and amazing acrobatics delighted musical comedy audiences for decades, is dead at 85.

The veteran of 50 years on stage and screen died Friday at his home from a complication of ailments. A heart attack about two years ago was soon followed by total blindness.

Stone's sight had been failing for five or six years, the delayed effect of injuries suffered in a 1927 plane crash.

He was flying solo between his Connecticut farm and rehearsals for a Broadway show when he crashed. Both legs were broken, an ankle crushed, his jaw broken. His friend, Will Rogers, flew from Hollywood to replace him in the show, "Three Cheers."

A barber's son, born in Valmont, Colo., Fred started as a circus acrobat and worked in medicine and minstrel shows before teaming up with Dave Montgomery in 1935 to form a song and dance act.

Harriet Beecher Stowe, author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," said the most memorable moment of her youth was in finding a copy of "The Arabian Nights" at the bottom of a barrel of her father's sermons.

Galion Council To Consider 3 Traffic Setups

GALION — Three plans for routing internal traffic through Galion were studied by the Galion Planning Commission, at a meeting Friday night with Mayor Edward H. Jones and members of City Council.

Dean Roberts, representing the engineering firm of Shaffer-Perrott and Associates of Mansfield, presented the plans.

User benefits and estimated costs will be submitted to council, with a complete report to be ready for printing in about 30 days.

The plans call for 1) routing traffic along the Olentangy river with an underpass at the New York Central Railroad west of Charles St., 2) the conversion of Church St. into a four-lane route, or 3) using Church St. with two lanes for westbound traffic, making it a one-way street, and routing two lanes of eastbound traffic over Cherry and Walnut streets.

Add a little ginger to the salt and pepper mixture that is to be rubbed into a lamb roast.

Mount Gilead Pair Injured In Auto Crash

Two cars and a trailer-tractor combination were involved in a minor injury accident on Rt. 42, five miles north of Mount Gilead at 11:30 p.m. Friday, state patrolmen here reported today.

Drivers of the two northbound cars were Estelle Blivins, 28, of Huntington, W. Va., and Frank O. Reed of near Mount Gilead.

The southbound trailer-tractor combination was driven by John E. Hixon, 48, of Beaver.

Patrolmen said the Reed vehicle came upon the Blivins auto in a blinding snow storm and swerved to the left to avoid striking it.

Veering into the southbound lane, the Reed car collided with the combination and then bounced off it to strike the Blivins vehicle.

Reed sustained contusions of the chest, and a passenger in his car, Helen J. Reed, 32, of Mount Gilead, lacerations of the right eye. They were taken to Morrow County Hospital in a Craven ambulance, treated and released.

Officers said the accident still is under investigation. Reed's car was badly damaged and the other two vehicles considerably damaged.

Morrow County Rd. 26, one and one-half miles south of Marengo, was the scene of a two-car collision at 5:20 p.m. Friday.

Patrolmen said autos involved were driven by George L. Pultrick, 24, of Marengo, southbound, and Margaret R. McKenzie, 28, of near Marengo, northbound. Both were only slightly damaged.

Kenton Plant Strike Looms; Meeting Slated

KENTON — A meeting has been set for 10 a.m. Wednesday morning in Kenton to continue contract talks between members of the Allied Industrial Workers of America, AFL-CIO, employees of Kenton's Rockwell Standard Corp., and company officials.

Representatives of both factions met Friday, but no agreement was reached. It was the 19th session of talks held without result since employees of the company passed a strike vote March 1.

Attending Wednesday's meeting is expected to be a federal conciliator from Columbus as well as the regional director of the AIW out of Toledo.

If no progress is reached at that session, the probability is that a strike will be called. The company, makers of truck axles, employs 320 persons on a three-shift basis.

Board of Education Will Analyze DiSalle's Budget Proposal

Item Is Last On Holt's List For Monday

Suggested Spending Exceeds Total for '58 By Some $53 Million

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Last on a list of things Supt. E. E. Holt will take up with the State Board of Education Monday is an analysis of the governor's budget recommendations for the education department.

But while the item is last on the list, it's getting first consideration from Holt and his staff and probably will from the state board, too.

In his budget message Tuesday evening, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle said his total recommended amount for public education—including operation of the state education department—is $427,900,000 for the two-year period which begins in July.

$53,200,000 Increase
That's $53,200,000 more than is being spent during the two-year period which runs out June 30.

But DiSalle added that he is "indeed disturbed by the present character of the (school) foundation program." While it's supposed to give aid to needy districts, DiSalle went on, but the state seems to be granting very substantial sums of money to every school district, irrespective of the wealth of the community.

"Aid to public schools in essence now takes nearly all of the revenue produced by the sales tax," the governor said, adding: "We must give thought to returning a portion of the burden to the school districts, along with the opening up of revenue sources to them."

Items on Agenda
Also on the state superintendent's list to be taken up with the board Monday:

Reports from each of the division directors within the state education department, covering the past six months' activities. Directors will be on hand to answer board members questions, Holt said.

A resolution—recommended by Holt—to create a new city school district containing all the territory of the Ravenna Local District of Portage County and Ravenna City District. The idea is to avoid duplication of effort, provide a broader curriculum and head-off annexation problems.

Charter Discussion Slated
A report on hearings being conducted in connection with revoking charters of 20 high schools which failed to meet minimum state standards.

A review of a state plan for strengthening instruction in mathematics, science and modern foreign languages in relation to the national Defense Education Act. Holt recommends adoption.

Consideration of territorial transfers involving Warren Local District to the city of Warren (Holt agrees) and a portion of Mahoning Local District in Mahoning County to Salem City District in Columbiana County (which Holt thinks should be disapproved.)

Pleasant Sixth Grade Pupil Wins Spelling Title in County

Tom Slack, a Pleasant School sixth grader, spelled down 34 other Marion County school contestants Friday night at Caledonia to win the county spelling championship.

Trailing close behind him was Linda Cleland, Green Camp eighth grader who captured second place.

The two were presented trophies by Victor Donlap, Caledonia School superintendent and chairman of the arrangements committee for Friday night's bee.

As the county's top speller in grades 6 through 8, Tom will participate in the Central Ohio spelling competition May 2 at Columbus. If he is unable to attend, his alternate, Miss Cleland, will take his place among the finalists from the area.

Third place winner, Bethel Webb, also a Green Camp eighth grader, was presented a box of candy by Mr. Donlap.

Other winners among the top 10 who were cited as outstanding spellers are:

Fourth, Philip Rice of Martel, sixth grade.

Fifth, Beverly Everett of New Bloomington, eighth grade.

Sixth, Janis Lauer of Prospect, eighth grade.

Seventh, Karen Grace of Pleasant, eighth grade.

Eighth, Donald Fry of Claridon, seventh grade.

Ninth, David Bowling of Green Camp, eighth grade.

Tenth, John Seavers of Caledonia, eighth grade.

Approximately 50 minutes were required to eliminate the contestants from the county's 12 schools, Mr. Donlap said.

Pronouncing the words used in the competition was Eugene Winters, speech and hearing therapist in Marion public schools.

Judges were the Rev. Albert Wagner, pastor of the Caledonia Methodist Church; the Rev. Kenneth Huff, pastor of the Caledonia Church of Christ; and Mrs. Nadya Sadowski, speech and English teacher at Caledonia.

C. Findley Boyd, Prominent Galion Industrialist, Dies at 62

GALION—Charles Findley Boyd, 62, prominent Galion industrialist and philanthropist, died Friday afternoon in Florida. He was vice president in charge of sales of the Galion Iron Works and Manufacturing Co., and was a son of the late David Charles Boyd, founder of the company.

He was a patient in Heart Institute at Miami Beach where he was admitted Feb. 28.

Stricken while at his winter apartment at Bal Harbour near Miami Beach, he had gone there a few weeks ago to recuperate from a recent serious illness. His death was due to complications from diabetes.

Widow, Daughters Survive

Mr. Boyd is survived by his widow, the former Miss Martha Belle Herndon; four daughters, Mrs. Martha Jean Kelley, Mrs. Fred Vergon and Mrs. Robert Kump, all of Galion, and Mrs. Raymond N. Stephens of Mansfield; seven grandchildren; a brother, Ralph E. Boyd of Galion, who is president of the Galion Iron Works; two sisters, Mrs. George Stinson of Galion, and Mrs. Eugene Gardner of Cleveland. Two brothers, John S. and Theodore E. Boyd, preceded him in death.

His wife and daughter, Mrs. Kelley, and his brother were at his bedside when he died.

He had made many gifts to organizations and institutions here. Until recently he was a member of the board of trustees and was a former vice president of Galion Community Hospital and a director of First National Bank. He was a past president of the Galion Chamber of Commerce.

federal charges also will be brought against him.

Police Chief Edward R. Good gave this account of the holdup: Hinkle walked up to teller Elmer Kratz, just before the bank closed at 4:30 p. m., and shoved a gun over the counter railing. Kratz laughed, thinking it was a joke, and began walking away.

Hinkle then went around the counter and herded four bookkeepers and five tellers into the vault, and shot the door. Inside the vault, the employees pushed an alarm button which did two things:

It tipped off police, and it automatically locked four of five cash drawers behind the tellers' cages.

The fifth cash drawer, which was not equipped to lock when the alarm sounded, was the one from which Hinkle gathered his loot.

There were no customers in the bank at the time.

The bank employees in the vault were in no danger of asphyxiating. The vault had a ventilating system and could be opened from the inside.

Family of Six Dies in Blaze At Flint, Mich.

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—A family of six was killed early today when a smoldering fire filled their small East Side Flint home with dense smoke.

Police said Richard Pelch, 29, his wife, Audrey, 24, and their children, Diane 8; Carol 7, Richard 5 and James 3 suffocated in the dense smoke which filled their four-room, single-story frame home. None of the bodies was burned.

Firemen said the blaze apparently started from a cigarette in an overstuffed chair in the living room. They said the flames smoldered for a long time, filling the house with dense smoke. It also burned a hole in the floor beneath the chair. But damage to the house was relatively minor, firemen said.

The fire was discovered at 3:50 a. m., by neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Pitts. They were awakened by the smell of smoke. The couple called the fire department and then made a futile attempt to awaken the Pelch family.

Pelch was a part-time mechanic at a local trucking firm. He got the job only a few weeks ago after recovering from a broken leg suffered a year ago.

current prices, after deducting an allowance for observed depreciation.

White said "nobody today knows precisely what is meant by inventory; it gets down to nuts and bolts."

Walter S. Sparling of Cleveland, president of Ohio Bell Telephone Co., said he was speaking for Ohio utility firms in urging no change in the RCN formula.

"Most important," he said, "is that after 46 years of operation we end up with the finest utility service at near the lowest cost in the country. The Ohio rate law has given us the financial strength to do the right thing at the right prices."

"The RCN law has operated in the best interests of the public. A change would not be in the public interest. In the long run it would result in higher rates and poorer service as in other states."

"Why go back to the laws of other states when they are moving in our direction?"

daughter, Laura Walls, 11, were found on a blood-stained bed on the second floor of the two-story frame house. They had been beaten with a claw hammer, shot and then strangled, Sheriff George said. An electric extension cord also was found around the necks of the victims.

Authorities said they wanted to continue the investigation before making any formal report, but added it appeared Soper had put the children in the car and caused the deaths of all inside.

All the children belong to Mrs. Soper by a previous marriage.

Mrs. David Might, a neighbor, stumbled on the bodies in the car when she missed seeing the children this morning.

Soper had been unemployed for many months.

Reds May Ask Poles, Czechs To Sign Treaty

LEIPZIG, East Germany (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has dropped a hint that he may invite Poland and Czechoslovakia to join the Soviet Union in signing a peace treaty with East Germany.

Blowing hot and cold, the ebullient Soviet leader let leak the suggestion that this may be his maneuver in his pressure campaign against the West.

The Soviets are demanding an all-German treaty that would, in effect, still leave two Germans to counter Western proposals for reunification of the country.

Bouncing around exuding confidence since arriving here on Wednesday, Khrushchev has given the impression that he feels he is making headway in the war of nerves on Germany—and particularly Berlin.

Today he leaves for East Berlin with indications he may be about to set another diplomatic time-bomb.

East German Communist Premier Otto Grotewohl said Friday night that it was "very possible" Polish Communist Boss Wladyslaw Gomułka and Czech President and party boss Antonin Novotny would confer with Khrushchev in Berlin.

This morning, however, Grotewohl's press chief Kurt Blecha said he had no information to give.

Khrushchev is due to address a labor conference in Leipzig this afternoon and leave by train this evening for East Berlin.

There was speculation that Khrushchev would remain in Berlin over the weekend, especially if Gomułka and Novotny show up.

Presumably, the four Communist nations will discuss going ahead with a separate peace treaty for East Germany, should the West refuse to bow to terms laid down by the Kremlin for a pact covering all Germany.

Khrushchev has clearly linked the Berlin crisis with conclusion of a German peace treaty. Still hanging over as a threat to peace is his warning that the Soviet Union would turn over to the East Germans control of Allied routes to West Berlin.

Tar Heels Qualify

Five Teams Take Berths In Post-Season Tournaments

By The Associated Press
Add North Carolina, Utah, California, Boston University and—this time officially—Denver to the post-season major college basketball tournament fields.

North Carolina, Utah, California and Boston U. wrapped up NCAA berths in Friday developments—Cal and Boston without lifting a finger. At the same time, Denver's position for the National Invitation Tournament was clarified by a loss to Brigham Young that eliminated the Pioneers from the Skyline Conference race.

Clip Duke 74-71

North Carolina moves into the 23-team NCAA line-up in a pair of York next Tuesday against Navy after whipping Duke 74-71 Friday night to reach the final of the Mid-Atlantic Coast Conference's title tournament. Frank McGuire's Tar Heels, 1957 National Collegiate champs, meet North Carolina State in tonight's ACC final at Raleigh but with State on NCAA probation, the result has no bearing on the NCAA berth. State won its semifinal over Virginia 68-63.

Utah, qualifying for the NCAA Far West regional at San Francisco March 13, nailed its fourth Skyline championship with an 85-73 victory over Wyoming.

The Utes' victory plus Denver's 72-67 loss to Brigham Young cleared the situation into which Denver fell with its acceptance of an NIT bid Thursday. That touched off a verbal tug of war in which the Skyline said it would hold Denver to its obligation to play in the NCAA tournament in case it caught Utah.

Boston U. joined the NCAA field as an at-large entry and will play Connecticut's Yankee Conference champions at New York in a first round game Tuesday. California has its tournament berth a day ahead of schedule—thanks to its Los Angeles branch. UCLA knocked runner-up Washington out of the Pacific Coast Conference scrambling, 56-55 and gave Cal its third straight title. The Bears will play Utah in the Far West regional.

Fields Nearly Complete
The big tournament fields now are nearly completed—and can be all but filled within the next 24 hours.

Four berths are vacant in the 23-team NCAA line-up in a pair of York next Tuesday against Navy play-offs. One this afternoon matched Miami of Ohio and Bowling Green at Dayton for the Mid-American Conference title. To tournament, Frank McGuire's Tar Heels, 1957 National Collegiate champs, meet North Carolina State in tonight's ACC final at Raleigh but with State on NCAA probation, the result has no bearing on the NCAA berth. Collins Leads New Orleans' Golfing Action

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Baltimore's Bill Collins headed a field of advice from a friendly rival on professional golf's winter tour and converted it into a one-stroke lead today in the $20,000 New Orleans Open.

Collins, a 230-pound former Marine and taxi driver, came in with a four-under-par 68 Friday and led the field at the end of the first round over the soggy 5,700-yard City Park course.

The near flawless performance gave Collins a slim lead over such tested opponents as defending PGA Champion Dow Finsterwald, Jim Turnesa of Elmsford, N.Y., Ernie Vossler of Midland, Tex., and comparative newcomer Dick Knight of San Diego, Calif., all with 69s.

Lloyd Mangrum of Apple Valley, Calif., who won tournament in 1942, headed a 10-man group tied with 70s.

The field for the final two rounds on Sunday and Monday will include the low 60 scorers and ties, plus the 10 leading amateurs, after today's second round.

Collins was ready to throw in the sponge because of his recent poor play and said he had planned to quit the tour after the New Orleans tourney.

AT GAME'S END, Pickerington had found the range for 26 goals and 17 of 26 free throws. Ridgedale was good for 17 from the field, 16 of 20 from the bonus circle. Both fives were guilty of 16 fouls, the Tigers' losing Dave Ison with 3:19 in the final, Ridgedale saying goodbye to George Young at the 4:49 mark in the same frame.

The second high point total to Joe Moore's fancy 28 was a lowly 7 garnered by Steve Williams. Fred Moore collected 6.

High for Pickerington was Steve Strom, who banged in 7 goals and 7 free throws for 21 points. Ison rolled in 8 and 2 for 18, while Tom Lorenz was good for 6 from the field for 12.

Actually, the outcome was never in doubt shortly after the third quarter got under way, when Ridgedale fell 12 points in arrears at 40-28 with 4:45 left to play. The Tigers maintained the pressure from that point and led by 13 at 48-35 with 1:08 showing. With 3:54 to be played in the final the victors were chugging along with a 16-point advantage to their credit at 60-44.

Trio Shooting For Berth in Pirate Lineup

By The Associated Press

Ted Kluszewski, as famed for his bad back as his big bat, says he's in shape and ready to be the Pittsburgh Pirates' regular first baseman.

Dick Stuart, who took Klu's job last season, says if he plays regularly and hits 30 homers the Pirates will win the National League pennant.

Rocky Nelson, a minor league phenom who has flopped six times in the majors, says he'd like to help the Pirates in some category. Manager Danny Murtaugh ain't sayin'.

But it's a safe bet that one of these three first basemen is the man Murtaugh is expecting to make up for the batting power Frank Thomas took with him to Cincinnati. The right-handed Thomas, traded for left-handed pitching strength, homered 35 times for the Pirates and had 108 RBIs.

The Pirates, as well as the other 15 major league clubs, opened the exhibition season today in Florida and Arizona.

And at Ft. Myers, Fla., where the Pirates entertained Milwaukee, Braves Manager Fred Haney was to take a good look at Casey Wise and Chuck Cottier.

Passes Exploratory Vote

Big Ten Approval Is Near On Renewal of Rose Bowl

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The Big Ten has cleared its decks for continuing in the Rose Bowl football game.

By a majority vote believed to be 6-4 or 7-3 the conference, which has won 12 of the last 13 Pasadena New Year's Day classics, flashed the green light for continuation beyond the 1960 game.

The exploratory ballot was taken by faculty representatives and athletic directors in their annual spring meeting Friday. The matter now must go before each Big Ten faculty council for certification and then be voted on officially in the conference's meetings at the University of Michigan, May 21-23.

The vote of sentiment makes way for the Association of Western Universities, successor to the Pacific Coast Conference and the Tournament of Roses Committee, to issue a formal Rose Bowl invitation. It is believed this has not yet been done because the Big Ten first had to clear the air on how it stood.

"We presume that the AWU and Tournament of Roses stand ready to negotiate a new Rose Bowl contract," said Asst. Big Ten Com.

Reservations are to be made to Marion Catholic High School not later than Tuesday, Patterson said.

The annual spring meeting of the Mid Ohio Conference will be held at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in Hotel Harding, according to J. L. Patterson, secretary of the league.

The program will consist of recognizing the conference co-champions in basketball, as well as the election of officers for the 1959-1960 season. In addition, spring track meet arrangements will be made and football and basketball schedules for the next seasons discussed.

Color Variety Plays Big Role At West Point

Bright Hues Featured
In Big 98-Classroom
Structure at Academy

The colorful cadets of West Point now have appropriately colorful classroom backgrounds in Thayer Hall, a new four-story structure built within the walls of the old Riding Hall.

Unused for many years since horsemanship was dropped from the curriculum of the famous Military Academy, this mammoth solid granite building on the bank of the Hudson River now accommodates 78 colorful classrooms and some 1,500 students and officer-instructors.

The four - floor, 310,000-square-foot, air-conditioned building also houses offices, auditoriums, labs, libraries, writ and map rooms and one of the world's finest military museums — all decorated in a variety of clear, modern hues. The building was designed by the architectural firm of Gehron and Seltzer of New York.

Design Follows Color

Walter Dorwin Teague Associates, famous industrial design firm, is responsible for the interior design with its functional, handsome color scheme and equipment. Mr. Teague, managing director of the firm that bears his name, says that "the selection of colors was of great significance in the interior design of Thayer Hall."

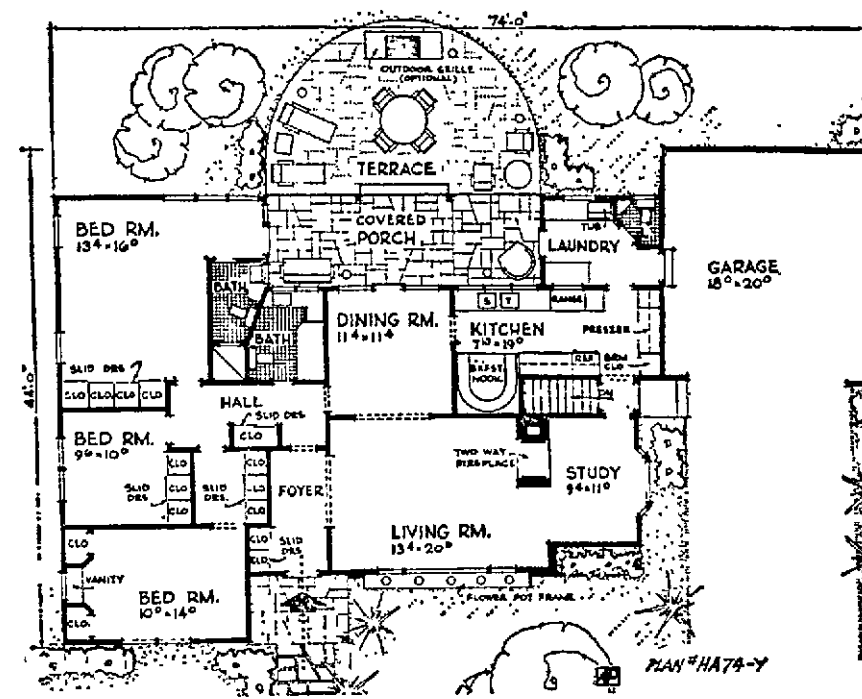

Because of the great size of the building, and absence of natural light, color had to be employed functionally as well as aesthetically. "We used color to break-up large wall expanses, to obtain correct light reflection, to avoid monotony and create visual interest," said Mr. Teague.

Colors were chosen that complemented the famous West Point "cadet grey" of the undergraduates' uniforms, as well as the new ivy green of the officers' dress. Colors of paint also were picked to provide contrast with the decoration of the barracks where green and neutral hues predominate.

Combinations Vary

While the actual number of paint colors chosen by the firm was not large — six neutrals and four colors plus three variations of the latter — they were selected because of their harmoniousness

Plan Features Compact Convenience

A FOYER ENTRANCE, handy laundry, big kitchen with breakfast nook and a living room study with a two-way fireplace are among the attractive features of this three-bedroom home. The plan, designed for compact convenience, is HA74-Y by Architect Herman H. York, 99-04 161st St., Jamaica 32, N. Y. Habitable area of the home is 1,627 square feet.

and their ability to be used in a variety of combinations. One classroom combines platinum gray on three walls, with pale cocoa on the wall facing the door, while another room combines a lighter gray with one wall painted wedge-wood blue.

Other classroom color combinations feature pale yellow paint on three walls with a light pumpkin hue on the dominating wall. "Horizon" blue is combined with off white, and with "golden straw yellow" hue. Bone white, deep cocoa, deep pumpkin are other interchangeable harmonious colors that contribute to the over-all interesting effect.

Against these painted walls, moulded plastic classroom chairs, some with writing arms, are color-related in attractive orange-red and bright yellow. Gray asphalt tile, with unobtrusive pumpkin and white pattern, complements the general color scheme. An important feature of each classroom is the over-all luminous fluorescent lighting. The gray chalkboards are of the proper value to provide correct eye-contrast with the surrounding walls, to permit the use of white or colored chalk, and light enough to serve as projection screens for slide material.

Kenton Girl Enjoys Mechanic's Work

Melinda Thinks Motors Hold More Interest Than Cooking

KENTON — Melinda Parthemore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Parthemore of Kenton, is a brown-eyed, curly-haired, dimpled 17-year-old Kenton High School Junior.

But here, the similarity between "Chink" and her teen-age friends ends. After school she often goes home, dons a pair of coveralls and goes to work on her car.

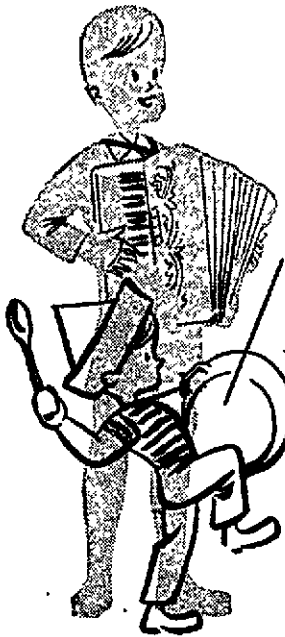

CHANCES ARE that on weekends you wouldn't find Melinda at the local soda bar but at her uncle's garage, tearing apart some broken down motor. This isn't exactly standard procedure for a teen-age girl and the ones who are the most astonished are her father and mother.

Melinda's father, David, says with an air of disbelief: "It's the darndest thing I ever heard of, but it's true," as if he were talking himself into believing it.

Her mother, Julie, who operates a restaurant in Kenton, says, "Melinda is a good cook and likes to bake. She is very good help in the restaurant, but she'd rather work on some old broken down car."

"LAST MONTH we gave Melinda an old car. The first thing she did was tear the transmission out of it. I couldn't get her to help me until that old klunker was fixed. I didn't think she could do it, but she did."

Melinda wants to know what all the excitement is about.

SECOND CHOICE. Melinda Parthemore, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Parthemore of Kenton likes to cook but it's strictly a second choice. She says she'd rather work on old motors and broken down automobiles. A junior in high school, she spends her weekends working in her uncle's garage.

She asks, what's wrong with a girl wanting to be a mechanic? "I wanted to take a machine shop course but they (the school officials) wouldn't let me. But I am going to try again next year, especially if they have an auto mechanics course," she said.

"Anything I tear down, I can put back together. I've always been interested in mechanical science. I just like to fix motors, machinery and stuff like that." Melinda added that "I don't have a thing against helping around the house or cooking or baking. I like it but I'd rather do mecha-cal work and what's wrong with that?"

Melinda has a boyfriend and he has no objections to her leanings toward mechanics work.

OSU Alumni Club Will Hear Talk on Costs of Education

The Marion County Ohio State Alumni and Alumnae Associations will join in holding a dinner meeting on Friday, April 17, at 6:30 p.m. in the YMCA. The affair, originally scheduled for March 13, will feature as its speaker Dr. Frederick W. Heimberger, vice president of Ohio State University.

Dr. Heimberger will present the facts about the costs of higher education today. At its present session, the Ohio General Assembly will consider the biennial appropriation for state-supported colleges. State representatives, local officials and civic leaders will be on hand to hear of the vital needs for funds; funds sought to meet the demands of steadily increasing enrollments, the need for more research, and the need for increases in faculty salaries.

The dinner, for which Mr. and Mrs. Owen Poling are serving as chairmen, will be open to all Ohio State alumni, those attending the university at any time, parents of branch and campus students, along with friends of the university.

Representatives from other Ohio universities will be invited and any residents interested in these schools are urged to attend. Invitations will be mailed to those whose names compose a file sent to Mr. Poling, president of the local alumni, but he asks that all interested in attending contact either Mrs. A. E. Schnauffer, president of the Marion County Alumnae group, who is assisting with plans, or Mrs. Joseph Galloway, in charge of reservations.
